Responses To Questions

Question: Do you know the average daily attendance of the children who will utilize this drop-in service? The RFP states that one could expect about 17 children each day. However, is this consistent for each site? Are there days during the week when one could expect fewer children? There are times during the day when the number of children significantly increases or decreases (peak-times)?

Answer: There is no data for Oak Hill. It is a new facility scheduled to open in late December, 2012.

Adamsville which opened in August 2012, drop-in classroom standard is 4 infants, 6 preschoolers and 2-3 school- aged children. The total is about 16-17 children for 2.5 staff. The assortment of children's ages varies each hour and each day (average age is 3.7 years old). The first quarter of operation had 564 children visit this site. The average was approximately 10/day. There are no peak hours or days at this time. There might be a slight decrease at lunch time and 6% of the children are Spanish speaking.

North Annex Service Center has a peak day which is on Monday, average visits are 350 - 450 per month and 63% of the children are from the Women Infant and Children program (WIC). Fifty (50%) of the children are Spanish speaking.
